Children's Program

An unmatched daily children's program is the cornerstone of C Lazy U's family vacation offering, designed to help teach children and teens skills that build confidence and independence. The program revolves around horseback riding every day – kids ages three-five are given pony rides, while older kids are taken on guided trail rides and given lessons in horsemanship according to their ages and skill levels. Between rides, children enjoy activities such as archery, scavenger hunts, fishing, cookouts, and hay rides in the summer, and tubing, sledding and more in the winter. Teens enjoy off-site camping and hiking excursions, white water rafting and a local rodeo. Counselors are available all day to play with and supervise children, even during the youngest's naptime.

The C Lazy U children's program provides a perfect balance of family time – parents and children spend time together during breakfast and after dinner, while the remainder of the day, kids enjoy supervised social activities and meet new friends, and parents can truly relax, feeling secure that their children are happily occupied. If parents choose, however, they can opt their children out of the program at any time for some additional family adventure.

Spa

C Lazy U recently introduced the new "Lazy U" Spa, a stunning collection of four treatment tents, a sunny relaxation lounge and more, resting in the meadow along the banks of Willow Creek. Guests enjoy traditional treatments such as massages, facials, manicures and pedicures, as well as signature treatments such as the "Cowboy Soak," a relaxing moonlit soak in deep copper tubs overlooking the creek, complete with champagne and strawberries. Massage tents feature glass floors overlooking the rushing waters of the creek below for the ultimate in relaxation, and a myriad of wraps and scrubs made from scratch in the Ranch's kitchen offer an all-natural spa experience.

Riding Program

The Ranch's signature offering is its renowned horseback riding and horsemanship program. With more than 175 horses, each guest has access to a horse perfectly suited to his or her individual personality and riding ability, and is paired with them exclusively for the duration of the stay. The 12,000-sq. ft. heated indoor riding arena provides year-round riding enjoyment, and miles of trails careen throughout the Ranch's 8,500 acres.

The Ranch's expert wranglers guide twice-daily mountain trail rides, and offer world-class horsemanship lessons focusing on everything from loping to cattle pushing. Riders can choose from slow, medium or advanced instructional riding tours, or concentrate on their skills in a one-on-one riding lesson. The pinnacle of the week is the Ranch's "Shodeo," which includes horseback riding competitions and equestrian-skill events, with a special focus on the children and their newly acquired skills.

The daily-changing menus highlight regional specialties, including aged western beef and Rocky Mountain trout, complimented by mouthwatering desserts and an extensive wine list, as well as after-dinner drinks and fireside entertainment.

Meals offer a balance of family and adult-time, with families sharing breakfast, but children enjoying the company of their peers and counselors at lunch and dinner, except for the weekly family lunch cookout. A variety of scenic backdrops are available for the ceremony, including the "Woodsie" reservoir overlook, the Ranch's private pond, the stunning meadow, or at the Ranch's Lodge or Patio House. Following the celebration, C Lazy U's secluded honeymoon cabin or luxury "glamping" tent is the perfect place to end the night.

Legacy

C Lazy U, Colorado's original luxury guest ranch, has been family-owned since its inception, and is one of the few remaining places where guests can experience the traditions of the American West from the moment they arrive. Even the Ranch's staff is comprised of many seasonal students who visited the Ranch as a child.

C Lazy U is composed of two ranches founded in the late 1800s that were eventually combined and renamed C Lazy U in 1946. The name was born from the shape of the Willow Creek which passed through the Ranch – its many twists and turns appeared to spell a “C” with a “U” on its side. The Ranch's historic barn, built in 1925, still stands today, along with several other structures from that era including the Meadow House, Ranch House, Aspen House, Mare's Nest and Bird's Nest.

Five “Spur” Service

Throughout its long history, C Lazy U was the only guest ranch in North America to attain both the celebrated AAA Five-Diamond and Forbes Five-Star ratings. However, due to changes in the grading system that would require C Lazy U to incorporate certain commercial aspects that would jeopardize its unique western atmosphere in order to maintain the rating – such as adding televisions to every room – the Ranch opted out as a rated resort. C Lazy U is proud of its Five-Star, Five-Diamond legacy, and continues to honor its exceptional standards with what it terms five "spur" service.

Sustainability

The Ranch has implemented a variety of sustainable elements into its operations, including a recycling program; an on-ranch lumber mill, utilizing on-site beetle-kill wood for cabin renovations, new construction and more; a green water system within its spa; reusable water bottles provided to guests to refill at the Ranch's numerous natural spring fountains, and much more.

Real Estate

The Ranch offers a limited number of ranch membership opportunities, allowing owners to enjoy all the amenities and services as C Lazy guests, year after year. 35-acre Ranch estate lots and predesigned 2,700 sq. ft. Chimney Rock Cabins are scattered amongst the Ranch's 8,500 acres, and range in price from $925,000 to 1.95 million. A limited number of re-sale homes are also available, ranging in price from $3.9 to $6.95 million.
